Item 8.01. Other Events.

On November 30, 2016, a shareholder class action lawsuit was filed in the Court of Chancery of the State of Delaware (the “Court”) against Patriot National, Inc. (the “Company”), Steven M. Mariano, the Company’s Chairman and Chief Executive Officer, and each of the Company’s directors. After a hearing held on December 7, 2016 the Court granted a temporary restraining order enjoining the Company from issuing a special cash dividend of $2.50 per share of common stock on December 9, 2016 and from continuing its previously announced stock repurchase program.

The Court is expected to set a hearing date for early January 2017 to consider whether a preliminary injunction will be ordered that would continue to prohibit the Company from issuing a special cash dividend of $2.50 per share of common stock and to prohibit the Company from continuing its stock repurchase program. The Company previously announced the special dividend and expanded stock repurchase program in a press release and Form 8-K filed with the Securities and Exchange Commission on November 14, 2016. The Company believes that it has meritorious defenses to the claims asserted in the temporary restraining application, and at the January hearing, the Company intends to vigorously oppose the request for the issuance of a preliminary injunction .

The Company expects to update its shareholders regarding the dividend payment following the January hearing. If the court does not extend the temporary restraining order or issue a preliminary injunction at the January hearing, the Company expects to be able to pay the previously announced special dividend in January 2017 to shareholders of record at the close of business on November 28, 2016 (which is the existing record date that was previously set by the Company).
